

There may be some merit to this proposal as long as it is not too difficult to administer. My main concern is keeping the current frequency allocations for the CW and digital modes.